RESOLUTIONS

Adopted by the Bar of Allen County Upon the Death of General Meloy.

General Luther Meloy, May 1842, and has been a resident of this city since three years after his birth. He received his education in the common schools of this city. In his youth he was known as a bright, active and adventurous boy. Early in the month of August, 1860, his adventurous and active spirit found outlet in the stirring events then transpiring, and the age of 10 years and 3 months found him second lieutenant of Co. L, 27th O. V. I. Ordered to Missouri to take part in the national struggle that had begun, and April, 1861, his life began, and has become a part of the history of the Republic. From this time forward until the close of the war he played his part as a soldier in the ranks of the Union. A strict disciplinarian, he soon attracted the attention of his general officers and from the grade of second lieutenant he was advanced to that of captain, and thence to the staff of Major General Dodge, then commanding the left wing of the 10th corps of the U. S. army at Corinth, Mississippi. He participated in all the battles that followed after the evacuation of Corinth until the close of the war in which the 10th army corps was engaged, and during his military life his courage and fidelity in the performance of duty.

At the close of the war he returned to his home in Lima, and at once entered upon the study of law in the office of Hon. Isaiah Pillars, and graduated at the law school at Cincinnati, Ohio. On his admission to the bar he associated himself with his preceptor, and began the practice of his profession in this city.

In the year A. D. 1869 he was elected probate judge of Allen County, Ohio, and assumed the duties of the office on the 14th day of February, D. 1870. At the end of his three years term he was re-elected to the same office, the duties of which he continued to discharge for another period of three years.

As judge he was conscientious and prompt, and his administration of the office was marked by intelligence and integrity. In addition to his duties as probate judge his military Meloy's light was not extinguished, and he commanded for several years, and laid the foundation for strict discipline for the triumph since won by this company, which have become national.

On the expiration of his second term as probate judge, he again resumed the practice of law, associating himself with Charles N. Lamison, which continued until January, A. D. 1878, when he was appointed by Governor Richard M. Hildreth, adjutant general of the State, in which position he continued to serve until the expiration of that Governor's term of office. His administration of this office was marked throughout by a devotion and interest that had not been since the termination of the war between the States.

The Ohio National Guard became the object of his highest solicitude. To its organization and management he gave his constant care and attention, and its present efficiency is due largely to the military instinct infused into it through his energy. On his retirement from this office he went to New York, and soon became interested in railroad enterprises, and mining in Colorado and New Mexico.

He superintended the construction of the Santa Fe Northern, a line of railroad connecting the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad with the Santa Fe, at Santa Fe, New Mexico. After his construction he remained, with headquarters at the city of Santa Fe, as its superintendent and general manager, until three years ago, when his health failing he returned to his home in this city, where he resided until his death which occurred on the 21st inst., at the home of his wife in Forest, Ind., where he had gone in the hope of relief.

General Meloy was of that class of men from whom great things may be expected. He was endowed with strong mental powers, not disciplined, but of rugged and stern mold. In his friendship to men was ever sincere and constant. In behalf of a friend no sacrifice was too great—time, money, labor all were at the service of that friend. If he was true to his friendships, he was unswerving to those who might have been his displeasure. Withal he was generous and brave to a fault. Hypocrisy and deceit he despised in all forms, and his voice and acts were always for the right as he understood the right.
